In order that none of the persons involved in the incidents are identified, we have not provided more specific details of dates or locations. The exemption at section 40(2) of the Freedom of Information Act has been engaged.

- Section 40 – Personal Information

Section 40(2) – Whilst Section 40 is a class based absolute exemption and there is no requirement to consider the harm or public interest test there is a requirement under sub-section 40(2), if the information requested relates to third parties, to articulate why disclosure would breach the Data Protection Act principles. The exemption at section 40(2) is relevant is the release of the personal information would be a breach of any of the 8 principles of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Personal Data means data that relates to a living individual who can be identified from that data or from that data and other data that is in the possession of or likely to come into the possession of the data controller.

Principle 1 of the Data Protection Act states that Personal Data shall be processed fairly and lawfully.

The latest advice from the Information Commissioner, when applying the exemption at section 40(2), is to firstly consider fairness. Fairness relates to consideration of expectation and consequences in relation to the use of a person's personal data.

It is reasonable to assume that when a member of the public has contact with the Constabulary they would expect their details to be kept confidential and in accordance with the Data Protection Act, and that information would not be made publicly available by releasing details via the Freedom of Information process. Once released this information is published on the Norfolk Constabulary website and is therefore available to any internet user.

In this particular instance, were we to provide more specific details, along with the other information that has been included in the response this could lead to the identification of those involved. Identification would be even more likely where members of the public already have some awareness of an incident or information can be linked to other disclosures that have already been released. There would be an expectation that this information would be kept confidential and that the Constabulary would not increase the likelihood of identifying an individual by releasing the details under the Freedom of Information Act.

Releasing these details, leading to the identification of children or others involved, would not be fair and would be a breach of Principle 1.

This response serves as a refusal notice under Section 17(1) of the Freedom of Information Act by virtue of the application of the exemption 40(2) of the Act for these parts of your request.

This response will be published on the Norfolk Constabulary's web-site www.norfolk.police.uk under the Freedom of Information pages at Publication Scheme - Disclosure Logs.
